Welcome and The History and Evolution of QRT

Daniel Meloy, Chief of Police (Ret.)

Director of Operations, O2SL and QRT National

Since the inception of the QRT as a collaborative community response model in 2013, the "build" and how a QRT serves have evolved. The original model was created as a "first emergency first" public safety-led model, with law enforcement, fire, and EMS partnering with social work professionals to serve at-risk and vulnerable community members. Over time, the model has evolved to serve individuals and communities through various community partnerships, and a flexibility that is most appropriate for each locality. Session Objectives: Learn "why" the QRT was needed and how it was created. Understand how collaborative community response can serve communities for various ...

Predictive Modeling and QRT Applications

Raj Masih

Lead Regional Drug Control Policy Coordinator, Potomac Highlands Guild

Rachel Thaxton, M.A.

Interim Director, Office of Drug Control Policy

In 2020, the West Virginia Office of Drug Control Policy (ODCP) discovered and identified eight counties that carried 60% of the overdose burden in the state and labeled them Action Counties. In 2021, the ODCP Regional Coordinators were on boarded to specifically target these Action Counties within their region of focus. In 2022, as a result of these initiatives, the regression analysis model for preventing an overdose was developed in the Eastern Panhandle of WV by two ODCP Regional Coordinators and is now being replicated in all eight action counties. This model allows a window of time prior to a ...

The Intersection of Reentry & Recovery

Beverly Sharp

Executive Director, The REACH Initiative

Not everyone in Reentry is in Recovery, but most everyone in Recovery is in some form of Reentry. It is important to understand the intersection between the two. In this session we will discuss the role of Reentry and its correlation with success when transitioning to the community from incarceration in prison or jail, as well as returning from a residential program for substance use disorder. Reentry should be addressed as a holistic system approach and not as a separate program or an afterthought. We will discuss the need for programs that are tailored to each individual's need and not ...

Breaking Down Barriers: Addressing Substance Use Disorder Stigma in Community Services

Jostin Holmes

Prevention, Treatment, and Recovery Policies Manager, WV Office Of Drug Control Policy

This presentation aims to equip community service providers, advocates, and community members with the knowledge and tools needed to confront substance use disorder stigma effectively, both in their interactions with clients and in dealing with personal stigma as professionals. By fostering understanding and empathy, we can create more supportive, inclusive, and compassionate communities where individuals facing substance use disorder can find the help and acceptance they need to overcome the challenges they face. Session Objectives: Gain a comprehensive understanding of substance use disorder stigma and its impact on individuals in the field, communities, and individuals using drugs. Learn practical strategies to effectively ...
